ABOUT AOJS

Since its inception in late 1947, THE ASSOCIATION OF ORTHODOX JEWISH SCIENTISTS serves its purpose by being continually at the forefront of the science and halacha interface, while providing a forum for research, innovation and discussion in which Orthodox Jewish scientists can consult and network within their disciplines. Additionally, AOJS strives to assist Orthodox youth who wish to specialize in science or medical fields in any way it can.

AOJS will continue its important work which includes planning major events which address the critical issues that arise when science encounters halacha, educating the Jewish communities through symposiums and conferences focused on this crucial junction and responding to individual inquiries on issues of practical halacha related to science and medicine.

In the end, though, the heart of AOJS is not the schedule or the programs, but the group of individuals reading this letter – the thinkers who, like you, are committed to exploring contemporary scientific developments and dilemmas from a halachic perspective. Your dues and your active participation allow us to realize this ideal. Thank you, in advance, for your continued involvement.
